This Mid-Century Modern corner lot house is a rare find in Manhattan Beach's desirable Tree Section. It is truly one of the most unique homes in Manhattan Beach and has been featured many times as an LA Times Hot Property. Enter from your own private Bali-like wooden bridge walkway, through the double front doors into this modern Manhattan Beach oasis. The bright and airy main level creates a free flowing Zen-like vibe between the kitchen, dining, living and outdoors spaces. The open interior floor plan features lofted ceilings with exposed beams and rows of sliding glass doors leading to multiple outdoor spaces. Designed with influences from Richard Neutra and Gregory Ain, this home feels like a classic Hollywood Hills Mid-Century Modern gem. Descend down the sun-drenched stairs to the lower level where you'll find all three bedrooms. The expansive master suite looks out on the grassy ...
