This is a unique opportunity to own two newly constructed homes adjacent to Pasadena's Historic Highlands. Modern and sleek, both houses have been carefully designed and built by a private developer to create the modern, urban, Southern California lifestyle. The back house is just short of 2000 square feet with soaring ceilings in the living room. The breathtaking first floor incorporates the living room, dining room and kitchen in one sweeping, light filled, open floor concept. A second floor mezzanine wraps around the guest bedroom and luxurious master bath incorporating a small second floor office/study overlooking the living space below. The front house has an open, loft-inspired floorplan with walls of glass and a sprawling living room and kitchen. Both residences have private yard spaces and ample parking.
